Claim Your Athlete Bio on ATHLETIC.NET

As an athlete, you want to make sure you get credit for all your hard work. One of the ways you can do this is to claim your athlete bio. Your bio page contains all past meet results, shows PRs and season records, and tracks your training log. Claiming it allows you to enter workouts, see upcoming team events on your dashboard, register for meets and pay your own entry fees. It also allows your coaches to easily communicate with you.

The first step in claiming your bio is to find it. The easiest way to do it is to simply search for your name.

William Sun			x
M	William Sun White Rock Christian (HS) • Surrey, BC	Cross Country
M	William Sun Princeton Day (HS) • Princeton, NJ	Cross Country
M	William Sun Camas (HS) • Camas, WA	Track & Field
M	William Sun Tacoma Baptist (HS) • Tacoma, WA	Track & Field

If you see your name listed multiple times above different teams you've competed for (and you're sure they're all you, and not someone else with the same name), open all of the listed results. You can merge the different bio pages into a single bio that shows all of your results in one place. See Merging Duplicate Athletes for more information.

Find your name listed with the appropriate team, and click on it. This will open the athlete bio for that name. Look through the results and other data listed to ensure that it's really you listed here. If the teams and performance data are correct, click Claim this Athlete.
